The New CAS Dataloggers Catalog is Available

CAS Data Loggers announce the release of their new catalog.

CHESTERLAND, OH – July 27, 2010

Just in from the printer! The new CAS Dataloggers' catalog presents the latest data logging systems from leading manufacturers. Included are data loggers that can measure temperature, humidity, voltage, current among other parameters. The models can be customized to utilize 2 inputs or more than 100 inputs, depending on the application. The catalog integrates characteristics of systems that are suitable for a wide range of applications such as manufacturing, research, healthcare, and environmental monitoring.

Products featured in the new catalog include:

- Accsense – Wireless and LAN based sensor pods with on-line monitoring
- dataTaker – Multi-function, universal input data loggers with a web interface
- Grant Instruments – High accuracy portable data loggers
- Ibexis – Remote monitoring with integrated cellular modem

CAS has spotlighted systems for many uses such as:

- General purpose data loggers that meet needs of simultaneously acquiring analog, digital, serial and Modbus data.
- Geotechnical data loggers for monitoring bridges, dams and tunnels.
- Temperature monitoring systems for furnaces, ovens, refrigerators, freezers and cryostats with sophisticated alarming capabilities.
- Battery operated portable models that may be used for troubleshooting intermittent faults.
- Monitoring systems that can collect and automatically transmit data from remote sites.
